What this tells us

Northern Adelaide combines the state's largest First Nations community, its greatest need for in-language support and its highest NDIS participation, alongside significant socio-economic disadvantage. Support for Carers here needs to be free or low cost, easy to reach, available in language, and well connected to disability and family services.

Our engagement footprint, what we hear and what we are doing

How we listen

Carers SA runs provider workshops in Northern Adelaide, in person at Salisbury Community Hub and online, now in their third iteration. Participants have included Feros Care, Anglicare SA, Baptist Care, Ability Action, Healthcare Australia, SA Housing, Australian Refugee Association, Centacare, Leukaemia Foundation, Open Arms, Northern Volunteering, DHS, Believe Housing and Hampstead Rehabilitation Centre.

We sit on the Northern Alliance Network, run monthly to bi-monthly drop-in sessions at Salisbury, and held an Aboriginal Yarning Session at Marra Dreaming, Salisbury.

In Carers' own words

> Carers SA have been a game changer for me. I am single handedly navigating three government departments in my Caregiving role and the services provided have given me some hope on some very dark days.
> NORTHERN ADELAIDE CARER · SATISFACTION SURVEY, FEBRUARY 2026

> You have not only provided me with practical tools and support, but you have truly made me feel seen, heard, and recognised as a person.

What we hear

Carers are found by organisations, not by finding us themselves

- Hampstead Rehabilitation Centre's psychosocial assessments surface Carers the medical record misses
- Believe Housing identifies Carers at the first home visit, and Open Arms refers veterans' Carers
- Council inclusion teams enable soft referrals
- Active organisational referral, with consent, works where self-referral does not

People do not use the word Carer

- Stigma around the word Carer, and confusion between paid and unpaid caring
- Information is needed in other languages, and printed material is not reaching the places Carers go
- Some Carers have been wrongly told DVA support makes them ineligible for Carer Gateway

NDIS system issues

- NDIS respite is frequently not funded
- Guardianship and administration, including navigating SACAT, is a distinct and growing load
- High provider staff turnover means constant re-education about what Carer Gateway offers
- Research finds Aboriginal, culturally diverse and psychosocial participants most often leave supports unused. Where a plan goes unused, a Carer does the care

Isolation and getting there

- Getting to and from the bus stop is the hard part: inaccessible stops and long walks cut people off
- Isolation is raised particularly for Carers of people with neurodiversity
- Parents of children with ADHD are asking for a peer group of their own

The things there is neither money nor time to fix

- Hoarding in the home: Carers have neither the funds nor the time, and local services are hard to find
- Tailored Support Packages are often the practical answer

The number behind it

Northern Adelaide has the state's highest NDIS participation: 17,781 participants, 40 per 1,000 people, against 31 for South Australia.

What we are doing

Well connected to services
